SRSO distributed 1800 breeds to the poorest women

By our correspondent

SUKKUR: Sindh Rural Support Organization (SRSO), under Project of Pakistan Poverty Alleviation (PPAF) in its Livelihood Enhancement Protection Project-Phase-II distributed the 1800 assets to the poor of the poor communities, having 0-18 Score of the Poverty, the preference were given to the ultra poor with PSC 0-11, although poor community was desired for different interaction to increase their monthly income and in this connection, LIPs are filled to assess the actual social & economical status of these families, and to assess the real need to enhance their income.

A breeds distribution ceremony, held here at Ghotki regarding transfer of the animals of cross breed arranged where 53 beneficiaries were received their animals on the occasion.

Speaking on the occasion, Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of the SRSO, Ms Naheed Shah Durani said that rural women have many challenges that they face adding that in most parts of the developing world women participate in crop production and livestock care, provide food, water and fuel for their families, and engage in off-farm activities to diversify their families' livelihoods. In addition, they carry out vital functions in caring for children, older persons and the sick. Rural women play a critical role in the rural economies of both developed and developing countries, she said.

CEO, SRSO said that rural women are a very important segment of our society, the Sindh Government giving them equal opportunities in every field would certainly help in the rapid socio-economic progress and prosperity of the entire country adding that their involvement in social mobilization efforts at the grassroots level has helped local rural women communities as well.

She said that the lives of rural women could only be changed after improving resources around them like crop production practices, use of organic manure, dairy and poultry farm management and treatment of various diseases among cattle.

SRSO alleviating poverty by harnessing the people's potential and to undertake development activities in the province, people living in abject poverty are largely excluded from the mainstream process of development. SRSO has placed great importance on "Organizations of the poor" and in empowering them to redress their powerlessness.

"No home, no medicines, people do not have even single piece of land. It's necessary to make people stakeholders," Country can progress without enhancing productivity of poor farmers in agriculture and livestock adding that in this regard SRSO has succeeded where bureaucracy has not done well like reopening of closed schools, training lady birth attendants, income-generating grants, flexible community-based micro credit, vocational training and micro insurance and productivity enhancing. Vocational training in embroidery, sewing cloths etc will definitely improve self or external employment of both men and women. There is need to reconsider traditional welfare policies i.e. providing subventions, putting money in the pockets of the poor, or providing them food. They should be made to earn for their living. Ms Durani said that Rural Poor Women's destiny is changing. We are in with a new approach of exploring innate ability in each individual to improve his quality of life.

Most livelihood support is focused around Agriculture and livestock since majority of the affected population has always been associated with farming.

She further said that SRSO assembled communities from rural areas at one platform and provides them training as well financial support under the Community Investment Fund (CIF) so that they can resolve their problems.

In one of Pakistan's poorest regions, Ms Durani said that the SRSO provides loans to poor women as well as rural male and female through Community Investment Fund (CIF) in which women collectively manages the fund, distributing loans for investment in income-generating activities only. This has built the confidence and capabilities of poor rural women, whose concerns are often brushed aside by male tribal elders. A hundreds of women community members, belonging to - Kandhkot, Shikarpur, Sukkur, Khairpur and Ghotki attendede the even. Earlier, the professional trainer of SRSO have given them an orientation about care, management of these breeds, the beneficiaries women of the Khanpur, Khangarh, Ali Bagh, Berari UCs of the Ghotki district.
